Learning travel philosophy

The old concept of 'vacation' is transforming into traveling to learn information and techniques that we can bring back to our daily life. Traveling to learn new ways, to be exposed to examples of how life could be.

We believe that at this moment in history there is a growing need for Humanity to change the paradigm. We need to look at life with different eyes, and believe that happiness and a conscious living in respect and symbiosis with nature is not only possible, but necessary.
